Howdy, my name is Ben Barry

OBJECTIVE To gain employment as a graphic designer in a fun, creative, and inspiring environment.

EDUCATION 2001 - 2007 University of North Texas where I majored in Communication Design and minored in English.
Denton, TX

EXPERIENCE

2008 - Present Facebook as in the website. This job and I just kind of found each other. Palo Alto, CA I work on a small internal design team doing all of the branding and marketing materials for the company and various conferences we host.

2007 - 2008 The Decoder Ring Design Concern offered me a job after I graduated, and Austin, TX despite other more lucrative offers I just couldn't turn them down. The work, the people and the location all make this the best first job I could have had.

2007 Newhouse Design internship with Michael and Meta Newhouse. Responsibilities Denton, TX include designing logos, icons, maps and websites, scanning stuff and playing with their two dogs Hank and Lula.

June 2007 Project M is an experimental graphic design group that aims to solve social Greensboro, AL problems using graphic design and inspire young creatives. This was an amazing experience to live and work with 7 other young designers as well as countless awesome advisors from around the world.

Summer 2006 The Decoder Ring Design Concern was pretty much the coolest internship Austin, TX I could have ever hoped for. I designed posters, logos, and other projects, helped paint the studio, picked up dead cockroaches and in general had way too much fun.
